You need to run

you need to run you need to run

Following my Blogger Joggen 2010 training schedule I ran the 4 kilometers in around 30 more or less relaxed minutes, along a somewhat steaming Elbe. But now I noticed my iBook is sending me subliminal messages. In a half hidden terminal window it tells me I need to run. Twice. Uncanny. The complete message is from a CPAN update script:

The most recent version "1.07" of the module "utf8" is part of the perl-5.8.9 distribution. To install that, you need to run force install utf8   --or-- install N/NW/NWCLARK/perl-5.8.9.tar.gz
```
