Fahrradsternfahrt today

Sunday 21 June 2009 21:59

No pictures of the event itself because I was busy cycling and due to the weather I had my camera phone in an Ortlieb in my backpack in it's rain cover. Started at 8:45 in Blankenese with attaching a small flag to my backpack, and then the usual route to the Fischmarkt and the ElbbrÃ¼cken, but this time with the Polizei clearing our way. Then into the south, some familiar parts of Wilhelmsburg, walking over the KattwykbrÃ¼cke to avoid getting stuck into the railroad tracks and with a bit of rain to the bottom of the KÃ¶hlbrandbrÃ¼cke. And then we went over it with thousands of bikes and got lost coming down again. Managed to reach the old Elbtunnel, and the Michel and then the Sternfahrt went a bit death star.

(That's the shadow of my not hooked up dish)

by Roland van Ipenburg http://www.xs4all.nl/~ipenburg/blog/posts/dull/2009/06/21/fahrradsternfahrt–today/