Edward Hopper vs. Michael Bedard

Friday 29 May 2009 15:36

The nice thing about a blog is that we can check when we blogged about stuff. I blogged about Michael Bedard in August 2007. I blogged about Edward Hopper about two weeks ago. Only now I get their connection: Night Hawks/Window Shopping. There is of course a Wikipedia page spoiling everything, but it just occurred to me. Just like after playing GTA IV for 13 months, just yesterday I noticed the player's character actually reaches for the radio in the car to change the radio station when you change the radio station. I didn't know that, I didn't expect that, but these things are pleasant surprises taking it to the next level.
