You’ve Got To Move It On Baby

Monday 15 June 2009 20:12

I’m getting really tired of these mevolutions by the way. Ukraine, Georgia, Iran, it’s always the same crap: Country is in deep shit for historic reasons, elections come up, some marketing guy taps into Echo Chamber 2.0, picks a color, the young and stupid can’t believe their brand with obviously the most friends and followers actually lost the election, then flash mobs provide a nice backdrop for Gonzo anchormen, all reporting how impossible it is to do their self−contradicting reporting, and no matter what the outcome, at the next elections the country is still in deep shit and the whole process is repeated with a different color.

by Roland van Ipenburg
http://www.xs4all.nl/~ipenburg/blog/posts/play/2009/06/15/you−ve−got−to−move−it−on−baby/