I don’t hate all players

Sunday 26 July 2009 18:17

I only hate the players with names in ALLCAPS, numbers in their name123, names containing references to popular characters, names containing references to how skilled they want to be, nAmEs with stupid cApS, n4m3s in 1337, names surrounded by xXxacsii–artxXx, names of characters from not the game they’re playing currently, names made up of random characters, long names, short names, orange names, dark blue names, dark green names, grey names and names that are only funny once when preceded by something like "ipenburg killed". And if you thought your nick was great when you were like twelve years old, you might want to think about changing it about six years later. Or just keep it and join the Pirate Party.

by Roland van Ipenburg http://www.xs4all.nl/~ipenburg/blog/posts/play/2009/07/26/i–dont–hate–all–players/